

Dispose of it.

Dispose of weed waste in a way that stops it from regrowing.

Weeds grow and reproduce in many different ways. There is no one safe method to dispose of weed waste.

Some weedy shrubs and trees can be composted at home. Most weedy groundcovers and climbers should be taken to a green waste facility where they will be killed by temperatures reached during commercial composting.

Hard to kill weeds should only be disposed of at your local refuse transfer station or through household waste collection services.
